1. PREFACE

The compliance function in the derivatives industry is of critical importance in the context of the rapid change and growth taking place in the financial services sector. Increasing competition, pressure to operate profitably and to improve performance, introduction of new derivative products and rapid advancements in information processing and dissemination technology may result in risk management by clearing participants lagging behind in their emphasis on sound operational controls. The most important message that this document intends to convey is that compliance should be looked upon as an entire system of –

- a) complying with laws, rules and guidelines issued by the relevant authorities under the regulatory framework;
- b) assuring a high quality of service to clients in order to maintain long-term profitable relationships with business partners;
- c) managing risk, particularly operational risk, as part of an enterprise-wide risk management framework that is aimed at providing greater certainty for cashflow management purposes, and hence enhancing risk-adjusted returns to shareholders; and
- d) encouraging one's peers to equally adopt a high standard in order to minimise credit, systemic and reputational risk in the interest of promoting long-term development of the industry.

Hence, this document is issued to address current compliance issues and to enhance compliance through guidance that will encourage self-regulation and sound risk management of derivatives. It is our expectation that senior management and compliance officers will play a more proactive and meaningful role in evaluating the internal controls system and cultivating a compliance culture in their organisation.

The compliance guidelines contained in this document are presented with the following functional objectives in mind:

- a) to improve the quality and effectiveness of the compliance function;
- b) to promote a compliance culture within, and self-regulation by the clearing participants; and
- c) to provide a uniform practice guide on compliance which would serve as a basis for guidance and measurement of performance of the compliance function by the Compliance Officer.

Senior management and Compliance Officers may find these guidelines useful in reassessing their supervisory, monitoring and compliance procedures. This paper is organised into four major parts:

- a) Part I encompasses an overview of the compliance function;
- b) Part II covers compliance control and responsibilities. This part prescribes the requirement to establish a compliance culture within a clearing participant and outlines the roles to be played by the Board of Directors and employees;
- c) Part III describes the role, duties and responsibilities of the Compliance Officer;
- d) Part IV addresses the skills required by a Compliance Officer.

2. OVERVIEW OF THE COMPLIANCE FUNCTION

To comply means compliance with all relevant laws, policies, procedures, guidelines, directives, rules and regulations. Compliance essentially refers to proper supervision and competent system of internal controls within an organisation to maintain the integrity of its clearing and settlement practices, the safeguarding of its assets and compliance with all relevant regulatory requirements. Compliance is a component of proper business support and applies to all individual business activities and functions. Effective compliance requires the willingness of clearing participants to police their own activities, eliminate bad practices and to maintain routine contact with the regulators. The biggest pitfalls of setting up a Compliance function are:

- a) the compliance function is seen as being solely the province of the Compliance Department. No one sees a specific compliance dimension to their job nor has one been expressly communicated to them
- b) personnel in the Compliance Department are inadequately trained and under-resourced
- c) the organisational objectives or corporate mission has failed to recognise the Compliance function. The purpose of establishing a Compliance Department has not been communicated to the staff and the setting up of the Compliance Department is merely in response to the requirements of the Securities Commission and the Clearing House
- d) lack of acceptance by the Board of Directors and senior management of the role and importance of the Compliance Department/Officer
- e) the Compliance Officer is often distracted by other duties and has not been designated with the appropriate seniority for the job
- f) failure to identify and manage conflict of interests
- g) failure to maintain professional independence and
- h) weak management, supervision and control.

3. COMPLIANCE CONTROL AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Compliance is a 'state of mind' which needs to penetrate the whole fabric of the organisation in the way it is organised, managed and controlled. Each regulated business area of a clearing participant e.g. clearing and settlement activities, customer documentation, payments and settlement activities, the handling of clients' funds, is responsible for complying with the relevant rules and laws and must maintain procedures that will ensure compliance.

Each clearing participant needs to adopt a 'compliance mission statement' that will cultivate an environment, which encourages compliance. Problems arising from daily operations or key decisions and actions taken may impose a strategic or financial impact on the clearing participant's compliance. In these cases, the compliance mission statement serves as a reference to ensure the clearing participant remains compliant.

Roles and Responsibilities of the Board of Directors

The Board of Directors, besides approving all significant policies and procedures throughout the organisation, should also ensure that:

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

- a) a sound system of internal controls is maintained to safeguard shareholders' interests company's assets and clients' interests. This covers not only financial controls but operational and compliance controls, and risk management;
- b) management effectively implements all policies and procedures set by the Board;
- c) a fully-staffed compliance department is established and delegated with the responsibility of managing the organisation's compliance with all relevant laws, rules, regulations, directives, guidelines, policies and procedures;
- d) competent compliance personnel are available to review the effectiveness of organisational controls and procedures as well as verify the reliability of information reported;
- e) proper procedures are in place to anticipate likely changes in the regulatory regime and compliance requirements that may be against the interest of the organisation;
- f) there are periodic discussions with management concerning the effectiveness of internal controls and risk management, and ensure the management has appropriately taken action on recommendations and concerns expressed by the Compliance Officer and auditors (regulatory auditors, internal and external auditors) with regards to internal control weaknesses and issues on non-compliance.

A strong and pro-active Board will foster an environment of strong internal controls and compliant procedures and practices.

Establishment of compliance culture within the organisation

To establish an effective compliance culture within the organisation, the organisation needs to:

- a) have a well-documented and up to date operations manual incorporating practices that ensure compliance. The operations manual should:
  - i. contain procedures that are practical and able to explain the rationale behind each requirement and the consequences if that requirement is not met; and
  - ii. clearly explain the individual responsibilities for each function to be performed.
- b) have a proper system for record keeping. Complete and accessible records are vital in enabling the organisation to demonstrate it has complied effectively.
- c) have effective channels of communication to ensure that all staff are fully aware of policies and procedures affecting their duties and responsibilities and any changes thereto.
- d) provide induction training to new staff. Induction training should encompass explanation of the procedures relevant to the job and the corresponding compliance responsibilities.
- e) assess staff for their competencies on a regular basis to identify training needs and promote personal development.
- f) have a competent Compliance Officer to advise regulated business areas on key matters of compliance, to monitor that the business is complying in practice and to educate everyone in the organisation on how compliance is best achieved.
- g) have a system of regular reporting. Regular reporting to Board is critical and should include both routine and exceptional matters. Compliance issues such as results of monitoring, changes in regulations, results of regulatory visits etc., should be compiled in a Compliance Report and be made a standing item to be discussed at Board Meetings.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

h) have an effective internal control system. When establishing an internal control system, management should include the following:

i. Organisational structure

This sets out the hierarchical structure within and the division of functions across the organisation. Its purpose is to provide a clear and accurate picture of:

- which department is responsible for each business function.
- the levels of responsibility and reporting structure within the department.
- the levels of responsibility and reporting structure for the heads of department.
- the levels of responsibility and reporting structure for the executive director or chief executive officer.

ii. Managerial Control

This control includes all manner of supervisory that is exercised by senior management.

iii. Segregation of duties

The segregation of duties is a crucial method of management control. It involves allocating certain tasks within a business activity amongst the employees in such a manner that one employee's task acts as a check and balance over another employee's task. This ensures that the activities of an organisation are being carried out in a proper and authorised manner and helps prevent the occurrence of fraudulent activities. Within a clearing participant, the usual examples of segregation are between:

- procurement of clients and credit risk analysis
- trading activities and dealing duties (if any) and settlement transactions
- funds transfer and transaction booking
- daily maintenance of general ledger balance and validation of general ledger balance
- maintenance of record balance and physical release of collateral

The size of certain organisations may make it impracticable to separate tasks within an activity to 2 or more employees. The management will then have to rely on other methods of control such as audits and management reviews and conduct these on a frequent and in-depth basis.

iv. Supervisory control

Authorised and appropriate qualified personnel should independently supervise all activities

v. Review, authorisation and approval

All transactions should require approval by an appropriate authorised official. Approval limits should commensurate with the level of each individual's degree of authority. All transactions must be properly documented to provide for review and accountability.

- vi. Independent review
An independent review conducted by an identified personnel functions to ensure that a task or process is carried out properly and efficiently.

- vii. Accounting control and arithmetical accuracy
Accounting control is essentially a system for checking the accuracy of the information contained in the accounting records and books of the company on a daily basis. Accounting control activities encompass verifying the arithmetical methods used and their results as shown by the figures in financial statements such as account totals and trial balances, proving control account balances and performing reconciliations.

- viii. Physical security
This control relates to the custody and safeguarding of assets, and restriction of access to business premises, systems and departmental records.

Compliance responsibilities

Management is responsible for setting the tone of the organisation to promote a compliance culture within the entity. It is imperative that management provides support to the compliance function and actions taken by management must be indicative of this. Weaknesses in the organisations' internal controls or inefficiencies in operating procedures must be identified and rectified immediately. Non-compliance must be dealt with to ensure that the breach will not occur again.

It is the responsibility of the staff to comply with relevant industry laws, and internal control policies and procedures set up by the organisation. Both management and staff must bear in mind that compliance is everyone's responsibility. An ethos of professionalism and best practice which is essential for an effective compliance can only be achieved if everyone plays his/her part rather than relying just on the Compliance Officer or Compliance Department.

The ultimate responsibility for proper supervision and compliance rests with the organisation and its Board of Directors. The Compliance Officer facilitates the attainment of these objectives and does not relieve the organisation or its Board of Directors of any of its responsibilities. The formulation of supervisory or compliance programmes may be within the Compliance Officer's job function but the effective implementation and maintenance of such programmes lies with the organisation and its Board of Directors. Any failure to effectively supervise and ensure compliance by the organisation or its employees will be deemed a failure on the part of the organisation and its Board of Directors.

4. ROLE OF THE COMPLIANCE OFFICER

An independent function

The Compliance Officer acts as the "conduit" through which a clearing participant achieves the compliance objectives, whilst providing an independent check and balance within the clearing participant, thereby ensuring that its activities are in compliance with the relevant securities laws, rules, regulations, directives, guidelines, policies and procedures.

To carry out his duties without any conflict of interest, the Compliance Officer must be independent of the back office and other operational functions of the clearing participant. He must not have operational functions, and must not be directly involved in settlement, funding, processing or reconciliation activities of a clearing participant, and should not act in a manner which may compromise his function and position. He should only be engaged in the compliance function. He must not engage in personal dealing in derivatives.

Role of the Compliance Officer in relation to other departments or functions within the organisation

The Compliance Officer undertakes an overall supervisory responsibility over the clearing, settlement and operational activities of a clearing participant. He monitors on-going business activities on a proactive basis to ensure compliance by the clearing participant. He oversees and supplements other supervisory measures already in place within a clearing participant and ensures that the relevant supervisors/Heads of Department perform their supervisory responsibilities effectively. However, the Compliance Officer does not relieve any supervisor/Head of Department of their responsibilities. The burden of executing designated job functions still remains with the respective supervisors/Heads of Department.

In this respect, the Compliance Officer should keep in constant communication and work closely with all supervisory heads within the clearing participant's structure, with a view to supplementing existing reviews of the supervisors and ensuring that the necessary policies and procedures are in place to effect proper supervision of the respective departments.

The Compliance Officer and the Internal Audit Department, if there is one, should strive to complement each other and work towards achieving a high standard of compliance. It is the duty of the Compliance Officer to review the work undertaken by the Internal Audit Department, and where necessary, make recommendations for improvement.

Clearing participants are encouraged to establish an Audit Committee, and the Compliance Officer should be one of the members of such committee, where it is established.

In respect of the clearing participant, where an Audit Committee is established at the holding company (public listed company) of the clearing participant, adoption of the following is encouraged:

- a) the Audit Committee should appoint one of its member-directors to be responsible for tabling and presenting compliance matters in regard to the clearing participant at the Audit Committee meeting,
- b) the above-mentioned member-director of the Audit Committee should carry out the following:
  - i. bring to the attention of the Audit Committee relevant issues on behalf of the Compliance Officer of the clearing participant to be deliberated and decided upon; and
  - ii. convey any decision or instruction made by the Audit Committee for the attention of the Compliance Officer and the Board of Directors of the clearing participant,
- c) the Compliance Officer of the clearing participant shall be invited and presented at the meeting of the Audit Committee on compliance matters pertaining to the clearing participant provided that this should not discharge the duty of the appointed member-director of the Audit Committee to be responsible over compliance matters reported by the Compliance Officer of the clearing participant.

Role of the Compliance Officer in relation to the Board of Directors

The Compliance Officer shall report directly to the Board of Directors of the organisation. He should have access to the Board of Directors to report, update, inform and make recommendations on all matters pertaining to compliance, including events of non-compliance. However, in the course of his duties, the Compliance Officer may bring compliance matters to the attention of the Executive Director/Chief Executive Officer or other senior management personnel so as to enable appropriate action to be taken.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

The Compliance Officer must submit monthly written reports to the Board of Directors on all matters pertaining to compliance, including matters that had been brought to the attention of the Executive Director/Chief Executive or other senior management personnel and the actions taken. The Board of Directors must deliberate matters reported to it by the Compliance Officer at its proper meeting so that appropriate action or decision can be taken. Proper records of such deliberations must be maintained.

To maintain the independence of the Compliance Officer, his performance should preferably be appraised by the Board of Directors.

Duties and Responsibilities of the Compliance Officer (Summary)

The main duties and responsibilities of the Compliance Officer are summarised below:

- a) to advise on compliance matters

The Compliance Officer has the responsibility to ensure compliance with all relevant laws, rules, regulations, directives, guidelines, policies and procedures.

- b) to review the adequacy of internal controls and risk management system

The Compliance Officer must continually review the adequacy of the organisation's internal control system, which includes the risk management system, in light of changes in internal and external conditions.

- c) to review, monitor and supervise other supervisory measures to ensure compliance

One of the ways to ensure compliance by all levels of staff is to have effective monitoring which should cover the back office and accounting activities. It is the responsibility of the supervisors/Department Heads to ensure compliance by their staff members. In this respect, it is the duty of Compliance Officer to review the adequacy of the supervisory measures undertaken by the supervisors/Department Heads. The frequency of reviewing and monitoring should be determined by assessing the level of risk involved, and the frequency and nature of changes in the operating environment. The reviewing and monitoring should also focus on areas of risk. A checklist should be used for such purposes.

- d) to assist in training and educating staff members on compliance matters

Training is critical to the successful implementation of a compliance culture. All new recruits and existing staff members must be adequately trained and equipped with the necessary capabilities to carry out the responsibilities assigned to them. The Compliance Officer must assist in the training and educating of staff members on compliance related aspects of their jobs and should ensure that they are kept up-to-date with changes in regulatory requirements.

- e) to report to the Board of Directors

It is the duty of the Compliance Officer to inform and report to the Board on all matters pertaining to compliance at least once a month. However, he should immediately report to the Board and the relevant Clearing House(s) if a matter requires urgent attention, e.g. breaches of the laws, and matters pertaining to segregation of clients' assets and risk position of the clearing participant.

- f) to liaise with the regulatory bodies on compliance matters

Due to the independence of the Compliance Officer's functions, he is the most suitable personnel in the organisation to play the role of liaison officer between the clearing participant and the regulators for the purpose of information sharing, clarification of rules and regulations, requests for advice, and reporting of incidence of non-compliance.

(Annex I elaborates the main duties and responsibilities of the Compliance Officer)

5. ESSENTIAL SKILLS REQUIRED OF A COMPLIANCE OFFICER

It is important that the right person is employed as a Compliance Officer. The individual must have at least a minimum level of competence in the particular activities they are required to monitor, and must also be a person of an appropriate level of seniority to act independently and to effect decisions.

A Compliance Officer needs to have proper professional qualifications and experience appropriate to the duties that he/she is expected to perform.

A Compliance Officer needs to have some technical expertise in the areas of business he/she is to monitor, for example, general principles relating to the use of derivatives products in hedging, market making, portfolio management, arbitrage and yield enhancement, as well as the risks involved, services offered by the organisation and market practices. He/she must be professionally competent in assessing industry rules that apply to the business and able to interpret them in a practical business way.

As the Compliance Officer needs to work closely with colleagues within the organisation and with the regulators, it is essential that Compliance Officer possesses good communication and interpersonal skills. He/she must be a good listener, open and approachable and have negotiation skills to be able to put over an argument in persuasive rather than dictatorial terms.

A Compliance Officer must be able to apply knowledge and experience gained to the business he/she works in and understands the critical problems and constraints faced by the business in order to gain credibility when discussing issues with management. Nevertheless, he/she must maintain an independent frame of mind and be able to make an independent decision whether to report or discuss with the Board and regulators on particular issues as seen appropriate.

6. CONCLUSION

Compliance will result in a lower incidence of disciplinary actions imposed on an organisation e.g. fines and suspension from clearing trades which may disrupt the business as well as damage the clearing participant's reputation. More importantly, compliance by way of establishing control principles like segregation of duties and independent review serves to protect the business assets by decreasing the occurrences of unintentional errors or outright fraud through quick detection and rectification.

The effective penetration of a proper compliance culture into all business and administrative units of an organisation will bring about lower operational risk, facilitate earlier detection of market risk or concentration risk result in a higher level of operational efficiency which in turn will translate into a reduction of operating costs and financial risk.

ANNEX I - DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE COMPLIANCE OFFICER

In order to maintain high standards of business conduct, strong internal controls and ensuring compliance with laws, rules and regulations, a clearing participant is required to have a Compliance Officer to manage the compliance aspects of its derivatives clearing business. The main duties and responsibilities of the Compliance Officer are:

a) to advise on compliance matters

In carrying out the above duty, the Compliance Officer should:

- i. understand all relevant laws, rules, regulations, directives, guidelines, policies and procedures, and changes thereto, and interpreting them with regards to the size and complexity of the organisation
- ii. advise all personnel of the organisation on how these requirements can be translated into practical procedures and all matters compliance
- iii. ensure that the organisation has policies and procedures to govern all key activities

The Compliance Officer has the responsibility for ensuring that compliance is met within all business areas.

b) to review the adequacy of internal controls and risk management system

Internal control is defined as follows:

“Internal control is the process, effected by an entity’s board of directors, management and other personnel, designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the achievement of objectives in the following categories:

- a) reliability of financial reporting*
- b) compliance with applicable laws and regulations and*
- c) effectiveness and efficiency of operations”*

Internal control comprises five interrelated elements:

- i. management oversight and the control culture
- ii. risk assessment
- iii. control activities
- iv. information and communication and
- v. monitoring activities

It is the responsibility of clearing participant to maintain a sound system of internal controls, which covers not only financial controls but operational and compliance controls, and risk management.

In reviewing the adequacy of the internal control system with the organisation, the Compliance Officer needs to consider the degree of existence and effectiveness of the following control factors:

- i. evidence of control operation

Once a control is introduced in the organisation, its effectiveness and reliability largely depend on the ability of the organisation to ensure and confirm that it is being operated. This confirmation should ideally take the form of documentary evidence such as a report or acknowledgement in writing from the person operating that control. The absence of such documentary evidence increases the risk that the control is not being operated and undermines the organisation’s ability to detect any breaches of the control.

ii. preventive and detective control

The purpose of having controls is to discourage, and “blow the whistle” on improper or unauthorised activities. These preventive and detective elements can be put in place by locating controls beginning from the point at which the risk first arises within an activity or process. This will reduce the time between the occurrence of the unauthorised activity and the whistle being blown, and prevent the situation from becoming worse and irreparable without detection. A common example of this is the exposure or position limit that is assigned by the management. Any breach in the limit is not left to be detected and reported by the backoffice staff, but also at the point of the position-keepers, limit monitors and risk management officers who would typically have controls at their end to ensure that they complete their tasks by the end of the day or before the beginning of the following trading day. This means that the breach should not continue undetected beyond a day and the situation should not have the opportunity to worsen past that day.

iii. addressing missing controls or weak ones

There should be procedures for improving or modifying the control system where weaknesses or gaps in the controls are discovered. The process of initiating and implementing the improvements should be prompt to reduce the organisation’s exposure to the weakness or gap. The organisation should also be able to assess and quantify the risk to which it is exposed as a result of the weakness or gap.

The derivatives industry is a dynamic, rapidly evolving industry and as such, the Compliance Officer must continually review the adequacy of the organisation’s internal control system, which includes the risk management system, in light of changes in internal and external conditions. In this respect, the Compliance Officer must review the assessment of the Internal Audit Department on the adequacy of the organisation’s internal controls.

Annex IV lists some functional control standards of key activities that will serve as a guide for reviewing the organisation’s overall internal control system.

c) *to review, monitor and supervise other supervisory measures to ensure compliance

One of the ways to ensure compliance by all levels of staff is to have effective reviewing and monitoring. It is the responsibility of the supervisors/Department Heads to ensure compliance by their staff members. In this respect, it is the duty of the Compliance Officer to review the adequacy of the supervisory measures undertaken by the supervisors/ Department Heads. Compliance review and monitoring should cover back office and accounting activities. Reviewing, monitoring and supervision include:

- i. review of control procedures to ensure derivatives activities are conducted according to existing policies and guidelines laid down by the Board and management
- ii. review of procedures carried out in opening and approving the opening of client accounts and ensure compliance with Rules of Bursa and relevant statutory requirements
- iii. review of operations to ensure that clearing and settlement rules such as timely allocation of trades and transaction confirmations

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1
Compliance Guidelines

- iv. review of clients' deposits and withdrawals to ensure compliance with laws and business rules
- v. review of accounting entries processing and general ledger account validation
- vi. review of general ledger account opening process. A control process must exist to prevent creating dummy or suspense ledger accounts which may be used to park unauthorised or loss making trades
- vii. review of reconciliation activities of the back office
- viii. ensuring proper segregation of clients' funds
- ix. review correspondence and interactions between clearing participant's staff and clients pertaining to post trade details, margins and clearing of contracts from time to time
- x. review of Adjusted Net Capital level and any other internal or external minimum capital standard and ensure the organisation is able to meet minimum financial requirements at all times
- xi. review of allocation/trade errors
- xii. review proprietary account to ensure compliance with credit/position limits imposed and that over-limits are reported to management
- xiii. review clients' position limits to ensure compliance with Clearing House imposed position limits and reportable position limit
- xiv. review margin calls issued to clients to ensure collection of margins are within the stipulated time frame
- xv. review of employee transactions to ensure that such transactions are authorised, executed and recorded in compliance with proper procedures
- xvi. review of client's complaints, i.e. analyse trends in complaints, the general causes and the average length of time taken to respond to and resolve clients' complaints. The Compliance Officer should review the handling of complaints by a designated officer to ensure that the handling of complaints, including any subsequent investigation and action taken, are in compliance with proper procedures.
- xvii. review of all advertisements, sales literature and any other types of information pertaining to recommendations/business disseminated to the client/public to ensure accuracy and compliance with relevant laws, rules and regulations, before being published and made accessible to the public
- xviii. follow up on audit findings. The Compliance Officer should ensure that audit finds raised by internal, external and regulatory auditors are addressed and rectified promptly

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

The frequency of reviewing and monitoring should be determined by assessing the level of risk involved, and the frequency and nature changes occurring in the operating environment. The reviewing and monitoring programme may be carried out daily, weekly or monthly, or as issues-based reviews of particular risk issues identified from past reviewing and monitoring or issues raised by the auditors during periodic audits. Ongoing reviewing and monitoring activities can offer the advantage of quickly detecting and correcting deficiencies in the system. Examples of such ongoing activities include the review and monitoring programme effectively, the Compliance Officer should have some measures such as a checklist to confirm that the reviewing and monitoring process have been performed and to record any deficiencies found. The checklist could also be used as a reference when having discussions with staff and management. A sample of reviewing and monitoring checklist is shown in Annex IV.

When performing the reviewing and monitoring process, the Compliance Officer should focus on areas of risk. The Compliance Officer should assess the risk in financial terms if activities are not controlled properly or a critical control step is missing, examples:

- i. risk of loss resulting from weaknesses in credit control and/or portfolio concentration- counterparty default on transactions in the process of being settled and where value had been delivered to the counterparty but not yet received in return
- ii. risk of loss resulting from weaknesses in control of liquidity- failure to meet its payment obligations on settlement dates or in the event of margin calls
- iii. risk of loss resulting from weaknesses in internal control- inaccurate financial information reported as a result of incorrect data used to value financial positions
- iv. risk of loss resulting from weaknesses in legal control- contracts or collateral not legally enforceable and exercisable

In this regard, the Compliance Officer should also:

- i. review the effectiveness of internal controls relevant to measuring, reporting and limiting risks
- ii. review the credit approval process to ensure that the risks of specific products are adequately captured and the credit approval procedures are followed. As a matter of general policy, business with a counterparty should not commence until a credit line has been approved
- iii. review risk exposure and concentration of risk, ensure that clearing and settlement activities are within the limits approved by the Board and adequate capital is maintained to support derivative activities
- iv. review to ensure that margin policy complies with the Clearing House's rules on margin
- v. review the legal documentation process and ensure guidelines and procedures are followed and consider the quality, marketability and enforceability of collateral pledged

The reviewing and monitoring process would only be effective if the Compliance Officer holds regular meetings with management and staff involved to review past findings. This is because regular meetings are helpful to review how procedures are working, to consider the weaknesses and any recommendations for change. This will help to establish an effective compliance culture.

Annex V describes in general some of the risks involved and risk management of exchange-traded derivatives. It serves as a reference for the Compliance Officer to enhance his/her compliance reviewing and monitoring process

All new recruits and existing staff members must be adequately trained and equipped with the necessary capabilities to carry out the responsibilities assigned to them. Training is critical to the successful implementation of a compliance culture. The Compliance Officer must assist in training and educating staff members on compliance related aspects of their jobs and should ensure that they are kept up-to-date with changes in regulatory requirements. Training can comprise both formal and on the job training. Some examples of on the job training that can be conducted by the Compliance Officer are:

- i. informing staff of weakness found during the compliance review and monitoring process
- ii. explaining regulatory requirements and the consequences if such requirements are not met
- iii. disseminate information that the regulators have communicated through circulars, e.g. changes in regulatory requirements or disciplinary action taken by the regulators

e) *to report to the Board of Directors

A timely information reporting system will foster an environment of compliant practices. It is duty of the Compliance Officer to inform and report to the Board on all matters pertaining to compliance at least once a month. However, the Compliance Officer should immediately report to the Board and the relevant Clearing House(s) if a matter requires urgent attention, e.g. breaches of the laws, and matters pertaining to segregation of clients' assets and risk position of the clearing participant.

The compliance report should report at the minimum, the following issues:

- i. credit exposure
The Board should be informed of any breach in limits that has occurred and follow-up actions taken, any overdue payments and follow-up on non-payments
- ii. funding
The Board should be apprised of the level of the organisation's Adjusted Net Capital and the impact of business activities on the organisation's overall liquidity position
- iii. collateral received
The Board should be informed of the type and financial exposure of collateral pledged by clients and measures taken by the organisation to satisfy itself that the documentation has been appropriately reviewed
- iv. error trades
The Board should be informed in detail on how the error trades occurred and the amount of profit/loss absorbed by the organisation
- v. segregation of clients' assets
The Board should be informed of any deficiency in clients' segregated assets
- vi. audit findings by the internal, external and regulatory audits
The Board should be informed of the audit finds raised by the internal. External and regulatory audits and the actions taken by management to address the issues highlighted

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1
Compliance Guidelines

- vii. other compliance issues and amendments to laws, rules and regulations
The Compliance Officer is responsible for ensuring that new compliance issues are properly addressed and reported to the Board, and compliance risks are brought to the Board's attention. The Compliance Officer must also report to the Board of Directors matters that had been brought to the attention of the Executive Director or other senior management personnel and the actions taken.
- viii. Other matters
The Board should also be informed of situations of potential conflicts of interests.

f) *to liaise with the regulatory bodies on compliance matters

Managing the organisation's relationship with the regulator is very important. The Compliance Officer is the most suitable personnel in the organisation to play the role of liaison officer between the clearing participant and the regulators due to the independence of his/her functions. Report must be cultivated to facilitate information sharing, clarification of rules and regulations and requests for advice. Consequently the Compliance Officer should:

- i. ensure monthly financial statements are submitted to the regulators within the stipulated time
- ii. inform the regulators immediately of any non-compliance and the actions or remedy to be taken by the organisation
- iii. inform the regulators of any constitutional changes in relation to the organisation's operations and any changes affecting the dealer's licence or licences issued to its dealer's representatives
- iv. inform the regulators immediately of any circumstances affecting the organisation's solvency or any condition that would materially impair its ability to meet any of its obligations
- v. be able to produce documents and information as and when requested by regulators and is answerable to any queries that the regulators may have in relation to his/her compliance duties and responsibilities

The Compliance Officer is encouraged to maintain routine contact with the regulators to discuss contentious issues and seek advice and suggestions to problems encountered. However, the regulators are not obliged to provide solutions, as this is the responsibility of the Clearing Participant.

Finally, the Compliance Officer should understand the reason inspection visits by regulators are conducted and be aware of the frequency of such visits. The purpose of audit inspections conducted by regulators is as follows:

That the clearing participants:

- i. comply with the relevant laws, rules, regulations, directives, guidelines, policies and procedures
- ii. maintain adequate internal controls in all areas
- iii. protect clients' assets by maintaining proper segregation

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1
Compliance Guidelines

- iv. maintain proper records that support and explain its activities, e.g. clearing, settlement records, etc.
- v. maintain a proper and up-to-date Operations Manual
- vi. have experienced management, qualified staff and an adequate back office system to carry out the business of dealing in derivatives
- vii. safeguard the Company's and its clients' assets against unauthorised use or disposal by having proper controls in place
- viii. maintain proper accounting records i.e. all transactions reported in the monthly financial reports are fairly stated, supported by relevant documents, and classified and disclosed in accordance with the Rules of Bursa Malaysia Derivatives Clearing Bhd ("Bursa Clearing (D)") and
- ix. maintain adequate capital and financial resources to support its clearing and settlement activities

Regulators assess internal controls and risk management as the focus is on detective and preventive measures. A reactive approach is not deemed appropriate in this industry due to the high risks involved due to the inherent leverage. Hence, during the inspection visit, the regulators expect, at the minimum the following, in order to conduct the audit in an efficient and effective manner:

- i. availability of back office and accounting records
- ii. all records have been maintained properly, in compliance with rules and regulations and can be substantiated
- iii. clearing and settlement activities conducted comply with the rules and regulations
- iv. accurate and full information to be given to all inquiries
- v. co-operation from all levels of staff

The Compliance Officer therefore should build positive long-term relationships with the regulators and is encouraged to exchange ideas on good compliance principles and activities to further develop a positive compliance culture across the industry.

ANNEX IV FUNCTIONAL CONTROL STANDARDS FOR DERIVATIVES CLEARING ACTIVITIES

The need for an effective system of internal control is more relevant and important to a business today. Technology and the growth of globalised institutions have not only speeded up execution and clearing processes worldwide and the transmission of information across borders, but they have arguably also introduced a new dimension of systemic risk of a magnitude that regulators, analysts and economics are still grappling to quantify. A good set of systems and internal controls may not eliminate external systemic risk but they will help a firm to detect and quantify the risk faster, giving the firm added valuable time to plan and respond to risk. Apart from systemic risk, good internal controls will help to substantially minimise a firm's operations risk.

Great attention has been placed on the need for effective control in establishing the rules and other arrangements for the operation of the derivatives market itself. This section has set down the basic functional control standards that should be established across derivatives activities:

Managerial oversight and understanding

It is the responsibility of the Board of Directors to establish policies and procedures, and maintain a sound system of internal controls, which covers not only financial controls but operational and compliance controls, and risk management. It is the responsibility of senior management to effectively implement all policies and procedures set by the Board. However, the ultimate responsibility or control effectiveness in the organisation shall rest with the board of directors. Control is exercised through the issuance of internal control policy and procedures and regular performance monitoring by senior management.

It is fundamentally important that senior management fully understand and are familiar with all types of risk involved in derivatives activities. They must be aware of and understand the nature of profitable activity and whether profit expectations are commensurate with the risk level of the activity.

Segregation of duties

There must be a high degree of segregation of duties between back office and accounting:

Back Office

The back office must have a comprehensive policy and procedures manual. The policy and procedures manual must be up to date in all respects. Back office procedures must ensure the completeness and accuracy of:

- trade transactions posted to the back office system
- funds transfer processing
- trade adjustments, reversals and corrections
- other revenue posting (such as fees)

To ensure all trade positions are identified and reconciled:

- positions reconciliation must be completed independently from the dealing room and must be completed before the start of the next trading day
- all positions must be reconciled
- all reconciling items must be investigated promptly
- unreconciling items must be brought to the attention of the chief dealer
- a copy of the position reconciliation must be retained as evidence of work done

To ensure accuracy of back office records:

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

- a contract note should be sent to the customer for every trade
- a daily system audit trail must be produced which lists in detail all changes made to previously input data (regardless of the data field concerned)
- back office transactions must be completed in all respects and on a timely basis
- supervisory controls over funds transfer should be adequate to prevent unauthorized payments being made
- control procedures must be established and maintained over instructions received via phone, telex and fax.
- whenever possible, payment should be based on standing customer's instruction
- any settlement instruction not in accordance with standing customer's instruction should be authenticated and approved before payment is made, e.g. call customer for confirmation
- all phone calls to customers must be logged and where possible taped for security reasons
- procedures must establish for verification of customers' payment instructions
- customer instructions must be checked against authorized signature lists
- procedures must exist to highlight and report any instruction which require payment to a non-standard or unusual account or address. Further approval and authentication should be required before any payment is made
- there should be proper controls over segregation of duties and review and authorisation for payment. The person initiating payment instructions should not for example be able to authorise payment or in charge of accounting entry
- the withdrawal amount should be checked prior to payment
- payment instructions must be stamped "PAID" after payment is made and be filed securely to prevent resubmission for duplicate payment
- controls should establish to ensure collection of margin or follow up action have been taken in the event margin was not paid on time
- all documents should be properly filed

Any errors in processing must be investigated and corrected without delay. An audit trail of processing errors should be maintained to help trace causes, trends and to monitor level of errors. Recurring error and other deficiencies must be brought to management's attention. A corrective action plan should be formulated and implemented as soon as practicable to correct the cause of systemic processing errors.

To ensure that appropriate collateral is received, monitored, safeguarded against loss and only released under the correct authority, the following controls over the receipt, recording and maintenance of collateral should be practised:

- policy and procedures on acceptance of collateral should be established before collateral is received
- the circumstances whereby collateral can be used to satisfy an outstanding customer obligation must be clearly stated and this will include an event of default, liquidation or bankruptcy of the counterparty
- a legal opinion should be obtained which expressly comments on the adequacy of the security arrangements that are contained in the underlying documentation such that the security is well founded and that off-set can be utilised according to contractual terms
- collateral once received, should be verified and details of the collateral should be loaded on the back office system
- recording of collateral must be in accordance with the FIA and must include the following:
  - a) client name
  - b) type of collateral received
  - c) amount (in face value terms)
  - d) quantity (number of bonds or shares)

- e) date of receipt
- f) date updated to back office system
- g) place of safekeeping
- collateral physically received into safekeeping must be placed in a secure place (e.g. fire proof vault)
- person who has no authority over the recording process must make receipt into custody of a vault
- collateral must be independently reconciled to third party records if relevant
- movement in the value of the collateral should be updated on the back office system. Shortfalls should be highlighted. Procedures must be established to ensure that operations identify shortfalls and make the necessary margin calls
- collateral should only be released in accordance with contract terms and on instructions from the customer and upon verification that customer obligations have been satisfied
- all release instructions must be checked against customer authorisation lists
- a final independent review must take place before collateral are released to ensure that:
  - a) all authentication procedures have been performed
  - b) sufficient documentation evidence

Accounting

Care should be taken to ensure that an appropriate level of segregation of duties exists in respect of the accounting function and that all entries are authorised before data is input to the general ledger. Independent check is a crucial management tool in ensuring accuracy and integrity of accounting information and records.

To ensure that accounting information are complete, accurate and process on a timely basis, the following accounting controls should be practices:

Reconciliation

- any accounting related reconciliation must be performed independently, evidence in writing, verified by independent officer and filed
- all reconciling items must be followed up and resolved promptly
- unknown difference should be investigated
- any write off of a difference must be approved at the appropriate level of management
- problems items in dispute, long dated outstanding items must be highlighted to management
- a build-up of reconciling items or unusually high levels must be brought to management's attention for remedial action

Inter-company balances

- inter-company receivable and payable balances must be reconciled periodically
- balances should be confirmed between parties through the exchange of a periodic statement of the balance
- reconciliation differences must be investigated and promptly resolved
- the reconciliation process must be documented and verified by an independent officer

Documentation and recording of transactions

There should be a system of well-designed accounting forms and documents to record all activities. The accounting vouchers should capture consistently and completely all the accounting entries with their corresponding account code, nature of the entries, date of the entry, persons who prepared, checked/authorised and posted the entries into the general ledger system. In addition, any supporting documents, e.g. invoices, debit/credit notes and any schedules/computation which support the amount posted into the general ledger should be attached together. All accounting vouchers should be serially numbered or pre-numbered so that it can be used as a reference for the related entries in the general ledger as well as a control to ensure transactions are not omitted from the general ledger. The implementation of a proper accounting voucher system would ensure existence of an audit trail and provide accountability to the accounting data captured in the system.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

Cash

- all cash which should have been received was in fact received and recorded promptly and accurately
- cash receipts are deposited on a timely basis
- cash disbursements are properly recorded
- all disbursements are made by way of issuance of cheque or telegraphic transfer
- bank reconciliation be performed by staff not responsible for issuance of cheques or custody of cash
- cash balances are maintained at adequate levels
- do not permit any one employee to handle a transaction in its entirety

Fixed assets

A proper fixed asset register should be maintained as this will assist in monitoring each of the fixed assets owned (for example fully depreciated fixed assets). Any additions or disposals of fixed assets should be updated into the fixed asset register promptly and accurately. A system of authorisation requiring senior management approval of all acquisitions and disposal of fixed assets should be established. Depreciation charge per month should be computed based on the depreciation policy adopted, charged into the Profit and Loss Account and updated into the register. A proper capitalisation policy is encouraged in order to avoid assets of insignificant amount being included as fixed assets.

Prepayments and accruals

A prepayment and accruals schedule should be maintained as this could assist in monitoring of prepayments and accruals amounts

Others

- the potential impact on profit and loss resulting from any problem item should be identified and where necessary a reserve taken for potential expected loss
- adjusting entries must be passed to clear resolved items
- the creation and use of suspense, error or sundry accounts should be avoided

Safekeeping of important documents

For security purposes, all important documents and back up diskettes should be kept in fire proof safe or at a secure location.

Internal control over electronic data processing (EDP)

In a manual accounting system, an important element of internal control consists of division of duties among several persons in such a manner that the work of one employee is to verify that of another, to avoid one person handling a transaction in its entirety. If an electronic data processing system is installed, machines may do work formerly done by several employees. Despite the integration of several functions in an EDP system, the importance of internal control is not in the least diminished.

a) Control over input

Input controls are designed to provide assurance that data received for processing represent properly authorised transactions and are accurate and complete when read in the computer. Control over input begins with proper authorisation and initiation of the transactions to be processed. When transaction data are originally recorded on 'hard copy' source documents, the appropriate person initiating the document should indicate authorisation. In online systems transaction data may be entered directly into the computer from remote terminal device located in the departments initiating the transactions. In these cases, access to the terminals must be limited to those persons authorised to initiate transactions.

If transactions documents are collected into batches for processing in sequence as on batch, input controls are necessary in batch processing to determine that no data is lost or added to the batch. The sequence of serial numbers of source documents comprising each batch should be accounted for.

b) Control over processing

Processing controls are designed to assure the reliability and accuracy of data processing. A major method of achieving control over processing is the use of program controls, which are written into the computer programs such as item count, control total, validity, self-checking number etc.

c) Control over output

Output controls are designed to assure the reliability of computer output and to determine that output is distributed only to authorised personnel. Control over output begins with independent verification and follow up on exceptions and errors reported.

ANNEX VI TYPES OF RISK AND RISK MANAGEMENT OF EXCHANGE TRADED DERIVATIVES

The basic risk associated with exchange traded derivatives transactions are credit risk, market risk, liquidity risk, operations risk and legal risk.

Credit risk

Broadly defined, credit risk is the risk that the counterparty fails to perform an obligation to the clearing participant. The clearing participant should evaluate both settlement and pre-settlement credit risk at the counterparty level across the products. On settlement day, the exposure to counterparty default may equal the full value of any cash flows or securities the clearing participant is to receive. Prior to settlement, credit risk is measured as the sum of the replacement cost of the position, plus an estimate of the clearing participant's potential future exposure from the instrument as a result of market changes.

The first line of defence that is employed in countering the threat of counterparty default is internal controls that ensure credit risk is assessed prior to entering into transactions with a given counterparty. Assessment of credit risk posed by a potential counterparty must involve taking into consideration the capital adequacy of the party, its debt/equity ratio, its assets/liabilities ratio with particular emphasis on liquidity assets, its earning ratio and the types of assets held and liabilities incurred by that party.

Certain credit circumstances structure may be used to reduce the credit exposure dealing with counterparties. Such structure may include collateral or third party guarantees. In such cases, a clearing participant's credit exposure should reflect these risk-reducing features only to the extent that the resource provisions are legally enforceable in all relevant jurisdictions. The clearing participant should be able to demonstrate that it has exercised due diligence in evaluating the enforceability of these resource provisions and provides adequate protection to the organisation.

Credit limits should be established for all counterparties with whom the clearing participant conducts business. As a matter of policy, business with counterparty should not commence until a credit line has been approved. It is important that the clearing participant set up an independent credit risk management team responsibility for:

- a) approving credit exposure measurement standards
- b) setting credit limits and monitoring their use
- c) reviewing credit and concentration of credit risk
- d) reviewing and monitoring risk reduction arrangements.

Credit exposure should be monitored continuously and compared to the approved limits. Management should be informed of any breach that has occurred. Follow-up action on unresolved excess exposures should be updated and reported to management. For settlement risk, the settlement process should be monitored daily and overdue payments be reported to management daily. Follow-up action on non payment should be updated and reported to management.

Market risk

Market risk the risk to a clearing participant's financial condition resulting from adverse movements in the level or volatility of market prices. The market risks created by futures contracts are exposure to changes in the price of the underlying cash instrument and changes in interest rates. There are three components to the management of market risk.

- a) mark-to-market valuation

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 1 Compliance Guidelines

The proper market risk management derivatives begin with their valuation. Inaccurate valuation leads to incorrect income recognition and inaccurate hedging strategies. Valuation on a mark-to-market basis will reflect the current value of cash-flows and provide information about market risk and appropriate hedging actions.

b) stress simulations

Clearing participant should subject their portfolio to stress simulations. The stress simulations should take into account extreme market movements. The results of the stress tests should be evaluated and contingency plans developed accordingly.

c) risk limits

Clearing participant should apply a consistent measure of the market risk of their derivative portfolios and compare them regularly with the predetermined market risk limits

Liquidity risk

A Clearing participant faces two types of liquidity risk in its derivatives activities:

- a) Market liquidity - the risk that a clearing participant cannot easily unwind or offset a particular position at or near the previous market price because of inadequate market depth or because of disruption in the market place.
- b) Funding liquidity - the risk that the clearing participant is unable to raise funds to meet its payment obligations on settlement date or in the event of margin calls.

Because neither type of liquidity risk is necessarily unique to derivatives activities, management should evaluate these risks in the broader context of the clearing participant's overall liquidity. In controlling liquidity risk, a clearing participant should:

- a) be able to assess its liquidity demands over a particular period, and
- b) be able to assess the amount it could raise in the markets for funding and managing its exposure

Operation risk

Operation risk is the risk of loss occurring as a result of inadequate systems and control, human error, or management failure.

The board of directors and management should ensure there is proper dedication of resources (financial and personnel) to support operations systems development and maintenance. System support and operational capacity should be adequate to accommodate the types of derivatives activities in which the clearing participant engages in. This includes being able to:

- a) capture all relevant details of transactions
- b) provide for accurate and timely input
- c) identify errors
- d) efficiently process and settle all transactions accurately and in a timely manner
- e) facilitate efficient reconciliation and
- f) provide for proper risk exposure monitoring

Segregation of operational duties, exposure reporting and risk monitoring from dealing and marketing is critical to proper internal control. Proper internal control should be provided over the entry of transactions into the database, transaction numbering, date and time notation, confirmation and settlement process.

There should be a unit responsible for ensuring proper reconciliation of front and back office database on regular basis. This includes verification of position data, profit and loss figures and transaction by transaction detail.

Management should ensure that a mechanism exists whereby derivatives contract documentation is confirmed, maintained and safeguarded. There should be an approved policy that specifies documentation requirements and formal procedures for safeguarding of important documents that are consistent with legal requirements and internal policies.

Operations risk can be assessed through periodic reviews of procedures, documentation requirements, data processing systems and other operational practices. Such reviews may help to reduce the likelihood of errors and breakdowns in controls, improve the control of risk and the effectiveness of the limit system and prevent unsound marketing practices and the premature adoption of new products or lines of business.

Legal risk

Legal risk is the risk that contracts are not legally enforceable or documented correctly. Participants in the derivatives markets have experienced significant losses because they were unable to recover losses from a defaulting counterparty when a court held that the counterparty had acted outside its authority in entering into such transactions. Hence prior to engaging in derivatives transactions, a clearing participant should:

- a) adequately evaluate the enforceability of its agreements. If the governing law of the agreement is specified to be located in a third country, the clearing participant must ensure that judgment obtained can be enforced in the clearing participant's and counterparty's jurisdictions
- b) satisfy itself that the terms of any contract governing its derivatives activities with a counterparty are legally sound.
- c) satisfy itself that its counterparties have the necessary authority to engage in the derivatives transactions.
- d) ensure that its right with respect to any margin or collateral received from a counterparty is enforceable and exercisable.

In addition to the above, a clearing participant should have approved policies that specify documentation requirements for derivatives activities and formal procedures for saving and safeguarding important documents. The clearing participant should have knowledge of relevant tax laws and interpretations governing the use of derivatives instruments. It should also regularly review and update its legal opinion to ascertain that the legal position of its clearing business has not changed with regard to the enforceability of the derivatives contract.

[End of Appendix]

GUIDELINE 1 – MARGIN RATES AND DEPOSITS

1.1 MARGIN RATES

Clearing Participants are required to collect margins from their clients for all open positions maintained by them to ensure performance of the contracts. The minimum margins required are set by the Clearing House and regular circulars are issued by the Clearing House on changes in the margin levels.

In accordance with Rule 521(a) of the Rules of the Clearing House, the amount of margin to be collected from clients shall be at least equivalent to the amount of margins required by the Clearing House. However, Clearing Participants may, at their absolute discretion, prescribe margin rates/requirements above the Clearing House's minimum margin requirements.

1.2 FORMS OF MARGIN DEPOSITS

Rule 521(b) of the Rules of the Clearing House and Paragraph 8 of the Clearing House's Directive No. 5-001 (Directives on the Responsibilities of Clearing Participants) sets out the acceptable forms of margin deposits.

For bank guarantee, it is the responsibility of the Clearing Participants to ensure that the bank guarantee is accepted only if it is capable of being called upon immediately without any restrictions, limitations or conditions imposed by the issuing bank. The bank guarantee must contain a clause to this effect.

GUIDELINE 2 – MARGIN CALLS

2.1 ISSUANCE OF MARGIN CALLS

Margin deposit acts as good faith deposit or performance bond for futures contract and for this purpose, margin call is issued to collect the required margin from the client.

It is the responsibility of the Clearing Participants to call for margins from their clients once the clients' accounts become undermargined. An account is undermargined if the account's total net equity plus acceptable margin deposit is less than the margin requirement. The difference between the total net equity plus acceptable margin deposit and the margin requirement denotes the amount of margin the Clearing Participant must call in order to restore the account's margin deficiency status.

Margin call must be made within one business day after the occurrence of the event giving rise to the call. If the Clearing Participant is unable to contact the client personally, a written margin call notice sent to the client at the latest address provided by the client shall be deemed as sufficient.

Clearing Participants may, at their absolute discretion, call for additional margin intra-day or at any time that the Clearing Participants deem it necessary to cover any additional risks associated with the clients' positions.

2.2 COMPUTATION OF MARGIN CALLS

For the purpose of determining the amount of margin call, the account shall be reviewed as of the close of the trading day.

A required margin call is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Required Margin Call} = \text{Margin Requirement} - (\text{Net Equity} + \text{Margin Deposit} + \text{Outstanding Margin Calls})$$

where:

Margin requirement refers                      Clearing Participant's margin requirement or if this is not applicable, the Clearing House margin requirement

Net equity refers                                    the total of an account's cash ledger balance, profit or loss on open futures contract and the net current market value of open options contract.

Margin deposit refers                            acceptable forms of margin payment approved by the Clearing House (as mentioned in this Guideline 1.2)

Outstanding margin calls refers                margin calls previously issued which remain unpaid

2.3 AGING OF MARGIN CALLS AND MONITORING PROCEDURES

Margin calls issued must be aged individually and separately throughout their existence. An account's total margin call is the sum of all individually aged margin calls and the oldest outstanding margin call shall be reduced first.

In aging of margin calls and for monitoring of margin payments, the following definitions shall apply:

T	=	the transaction date when position is established/account becomes undermargined
T+1	=	first business day after transaction date/day margin call is issued
T+2	=	second business day after transaction date
T+3	=	third business day after transaction date

Clearing Participants must ensure that they have adequate procedures in place to ensure that appropriate margin calls are made promptly and are properly monitored and followed up. To achieve this, Clearing Participants are required to establish procedures to include maintenance of written records indicating for each client:

- amount of margin call made
- date that the client is contacted and whether contacted by telephone or in writing
- age of the margin call
- status of the margin call i.e. is the margin call met by funds received, liquidation of position, etc and the date this event occurred.

2.4 TIMING OF MARGIN PAYMENT

In accordance with Rule 521 of the Rules of the Clearing House, Clearing Participants are required to collect margin from their clients for all open positions held. Margin is required to be collected either on an upfront basis or within a reasonable time frame as prescribed by the Clearing House.

For this purpose, the Clearing House has defined the reasonable time frame to be 3 business days from transaction date. However, Clearing Participants, may at their absolute discretion, shorten the time frame of the margin to be collected from their clients to less than 3 business days.

The reasonable time frame is considered met when the cash funds have been remitted and banked-into the client's Segregated Account. Clearing Participants should not treat the cash funds as received although the client's remittance shows the funds are forthcoming on a future value date.

For example, if the Clearing Participant received a confirmation from the client's banker advising that on T+1, the client has remitted RM1 million for value date T+3, then the funds can only be included in the client's net ledger balance at the close of trading on T+3. In this situation, the margin is considered as forthcoming within the reasonable time frame i.e. the margin call is met within the prescribed time frame.

However, in the case where the Clearing Participant received a confirmation from the client's banker advising that on T+1, the client has remitted RM1 million for value date T+5, then the funds can only be included in the client's net ledger balance at the close of trading on T+5. In this situation, the margin is not considered as forthcoming within the reasonable time frame and thus, the margin call is not met within the prescribed time frame.

For margin payment using cheques, the call is considered met upon banking-in of cheques.

2.5 REDUCTION AND NEGATION OF MARGIN CALLS

Reduction of margin call means the total outstanding amount of margin call in an account is partially reduced or decreased but, the remaining amount of margin call must still be met by the client. A margin call may only be reduced through the receipt of cash and/or other acceptable margin deposits, which are less than the amount of margin call.

In contrast, negation of margin call means cancellation or elimination of an account's margin call in its entirety. A margin call may be negated through:

- receipt of cash and/or acceptable margin deposits, which are equal or greater than the amount of the margin call; or
- inter-day favorable market movement and/or liquidation of position only if the account's total net equity is equal or greater than the margin requirement as of the close of the trading day. In such a case, the account is no longer in a margin deficiency status and hence, justify the reason for a negation of margin call; or
- a combination of the two factors above which results in the account's total net equity being equal or greater than the margin requirement as of the close of the trading day.

(NB: An account's total net equity means net equity plus acceptable margin deposit.)

The margin requirement here is defined as the Clearing Participants' margin requirements. This would mean, if the Clearing Participants prescribe a margin requirement higher than the minimum margin requirement of the Clearing House, then the higher margin requirements shall apply.

In addition, it is important to note that the practice of liquidation and re-establishment of position to circumvent the margin rules is disallowed.

2.6 ILLUSTRATIONS OF MARGIN CALL REDUCTION AND NEGATION

Tabled below are the various illustrations on how margin calls can be reduced or negated based on the concepts laid down in Guideline 2.5 above.

Please note the following assumptions used in all the illustrations:

1. Account balances and margin requirements are as of the close of trading day.
2. The account was properly margined on the previous trading day (Friday).
3. Margin call issued is equal to:

$$\text{Margin Requirement less (Net Equity + Margin Deposit + Outstanding Margin Calls)}$$

Note C

Note A: An additional margin call of RM13,000 was issued due to unfavorable market movement on Tuesday on top of the RM20,000 margin call.

Note B: On Wednesday, further unfavorable market movement created another additional margin call RM2,000. Both the margin calls of RM20,000 and RM13,000 were still outstanding.

Note C: Margin deposit of RM40,000 was received on Thursday. This deposit was sufficient to negate all the outstanding margin calls amounting to RM35,000. Account's net equity was higher than the margin requirement hence, no longer in margin deficiency status on Thursday.

Note C

Note A: An additional margin call of RM13,000 was issued due to unfavorable market movement on Tuesday on top of the RM20,000 margin call.

Note B: On Wednesday, further unfavorable market movement created another additional margin call RM2,000. Both the margin calls of RM20,000 and RM13,000 were still outstanding.

Note C: Margin deposits of RM15,000 was received on Thursday. This deposit was only sufficient to reduce the oldest aged outstanding margin call of RM20,000 to RM5,000 but not enough to negate the call. Apart from the RM5,000 balance, margin calls of RM13,000 and RM2,000 were still outstanding. Account was still in margin deficiency status as its net equity is lower than the margin requirement.

Note A

Note B

Note C

Note A: Despite a small favorable market movement on Tuesday, account's net equity was still below margin requirement. Margin call of RM4,000 was outstanding since this favorable market movement was not enough to negate the margin call and no margin deposit was received.

Note B: Unfavorable market movement resulted in another fresh margin call amounting to RM3,000. Margin call of RM4,000 was still outstanding.

Note C: Positions partially liquidated on Thursday thus, reduction in margin requirement to RM40,000. Both margin calls were negated as net equity was above margin requirement. Account was no longer in margin deficiency status.

Impact On Margin Calls Due To Liquidation Of Position(s) & Unfavorable Inter-Day Market Movement

Note A

Note B

Note C

Note A: Despite a small favorable market movement on Tuesday, account's net equity was still below margin requirement. Margin call of RM4,000 was outstanding as this favorable market movement was not enough to negate the margin call and no margin deposit was received.

Note B: Position partially liquidated thus, reduction in margin requirement to RM55,000 on Wednesday. However, market moved unfavorable to a deficit of RM7,000 on this day. Therefore, despite partial liquidation, the unfavorable market movement resulted in net equity lower than margin requirement. Account in margin deficiency status and margin call of RM4,000 was still outstanding.

Note C: Further liquidation of positions on Thursday thus, reduction in margin requirement to RM40,000. However, market moved unfavorable to a deficit of RM8,000 on this day. Therefore, despite partial liquidation, the unfavorable market movement resulted in net equity lower than margin requirement. Despite account in a lower margin deficiency level, margin call of RM4,000 was still outstanding.

Margin call amount/(age of margin call)	28,000 (T)	28,000 (T+1)	-	-

Note A

Note B

Note A: On Tuesday, occurrence of favorable market movement of RM13,000 and position was partially liquidated thus, reduction in margin requirement to RM49,000. However, margin call of RM28,000 was not negated as both of these conditions were insufficient to improve net equity above the margin requirement. Account remained in margin deficiency status.

Note B: Favorable market movement occurred on Wednesday. Position was further liquidated thus, reduction in margin requirement to RM35,000. Margin call of RM28,000 was properly negated as net equity was greater than margin requirement as a result of further favorable market movement and liquidation of position.

		Note A	Note B	Note C

Note A: Favorable market movement occurred on Tuesday of RM2,500. However, net equity was still lower than margin requirement hence, the margin call of RM9,000 was still outstanding as no margin deposit was received.

Note B: Favorable market movement occurred on Wednesday of RM4,700. However, net equity was still lower than margin requirement hence, the margin call of RM9,000 was still outstanding as no margin deposit was received.

Note C: Further favorable market movement of RM2,100 was noted on Thursday. This resulted in net equity greater than margin requirement. Account no longer under margin deficiency status and margin call was negated.

Impact On Margin Calls Due To Receipt Of Margin Deposits, Partial Liquidation Of Positions & Favorable Inter-Day Market Movement

	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thurs

Margin call amount/(age of margin call)	33,000 (T)	18,000 (T+1)	-	-

Note A

Note B

Note A: Favorable market movement occurred on Tuesday of RM10,000 and position partially liquidated thus, reduction in margin requirement to RM56,000. Also, cash deposit of RM15,000 was received on the same day. These conditions would reduced margin call to RM18,000 due to receipt of cash but not negated as net equity was less than margin requirement despite favorable market movement on the day and partial liquidation of position. Account was still under margin call.

Note B: Favorable market movement occurred on Wednesday. Margin call was negated as net equity was more than margin requirement as a result of further favorable market movement of RM3,000 and partial liquidation of position.

GUIDELINE 3 – UNDERMARGINED AND DEBIT ACCOUNTS TRADING

3.1 UNDERMARGINED AND DEBIT ACCOUNTS

An account is considered as undermargined when it is in a margin deficiency status i.e.: the account's total net equity plus acceptable margin deposits is less than the margin requirement. In such a case, margin call will be issued on the account for the deficit amount. If an account has an outstanding margin call in excess of the allowable time frame for margin payment, then the account is considered to be undermargined for an unreasonable time.

On the other hand, a debit account refers to:

- unsecured debit account
an account who has a negative net equity balance that is not secured by acceptable margin deposit. It may also arise in a situation where an account has liquidated all its positions resulting in a debit balance.

- secured debit account
an account with debit balance (i.e. a negative net equity balance) but is secured by acceptable margin deposit. In such a case the account may trade and hold positions provided the debit balance plus the value of acceptable margin deposit does not result in a negative balance.

3.2 PERMISSIBLE TRADING ACTIVITIES

In accordance with Rule 521(c) of the Rules of the Clearing House, a Clearing Participant must ensure that except for trades which reduce a client's margin requirements, no new Market Contracts are entered into by the client unless the minimum margin for the Market Contracts are on deposit or is forthcoming within such period as may be prescribed by the Clearing House from time to time after a call for margin has been made by the Clearing Participant and that client's pre-existing Open Positions comply with the margin requirements established by the Clearing Participant. This period is prescribed to be 3 business days from the transaction day.

Further Rule 521(e) of the Rules of the Clearing House provides that "a Clearing Participant may close out all or any Open Positions of Client where the Client fails to comply with the demand for margin within a reasonable time after a margin call has been made by the Clearing House, provided that in no case shall such time be less than 1 hour from the time of demand".

Essentially, Clearing Participants are required to ensure that margins are collected either upfront or within 3 business days from transaction day failing which, the Clearing Participants must ensure that no new Market Contracts are entered into by the client which will further increase the margin exposure of the client. However, orders for risk reducing trades which would reduce the margin requirements of the client may be allowed.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 2
Client Margin Guidelines

Guideline 3 – Undermargined and Debit Accounts Trading

For Clearing Participants who exercise a more stringent time frame for collection of margin from their clients (i.e. of less than 3 business days), they may, at their absolute discretion, ensure that no new Market Contracts are entered into by the clients which will further increase the margin exposure of the clients if the clients fails to meet with the demand of their margin calls. In this situation, the Clearing Participants may also reserve the right to close out all or any of the open positions of their clients who fail to meet with the demand of their margin calls.

Therefore, the types of trading activity a client is permitted to conduct is very much dependent on the margin call status of the Client.

The Clearing Participant must notify the relevant Trading Participant of the client's failure to comply with the relevant margin requirements and require the Trading Participant to only allow the following types of trading activities:

1. for account which is properly margined or in the case of undermargined account with margin being forthcoming within a reasonable time
  - trading activities such as day trade, addition trade and/or liquidating trade are permissible.

(Please refer to Illustration 1 in the following Guideline 3.3)

2. for undermargined account with margin not forthcoming within a reasonable time
  - may conduct liquidating trade only. Addition trade and/or day trade activities are disallowed.

(Please refer to Illustration 2 in the following Guideline 3.3)

3. for debit account which is not secured with acceptable margin deposit
  - liquidating trading and/or no trading is allowed for the account until sufficient cash or acceptable margin deposit equal or greater than the debit amount are deposited.

(Please refer to Illustration 3 and 4 in the following Guideline 3.3)

4. for debit account which is secured by acceptable margin deposit
  - if the debit amount plus value of the acceptable margin deposit is equal or greater than zero, then trading activities such as day trade, addition trade and/or liquidating trade are permissible.

(Please refer to Illustration 5 in the following Guideline 3.3)

- if the debit amount plus value of the acceptable margin deposit is less than zero, only liquidating trade may be permitted. Addition trade and/or day trade activities are disallowed.

(Please refer to Illustration 6 in the following Guideline 3.3)

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 2
Client Margin Guidelines
Guideline 3 – Undermargined and Debit Accounts Trading

The types of permissible trading activity as referred to above are defined as follows:

- day trade – establishment and closure of trades on the same trading day
- liquidating trade – closure of an established position for purposes of reducing an account’s margin requirement. Addition of positions like “spreads” or “lock-ups” which will result in a reduction in margin requirement will be allowed as this is line with risk reducing strategies.
- addition trade – establishment of trade which will increase an account’s position and margin requirement

3.3 ILLUSTRATIONS OF PERMISSIBLE TRADING ACTIVITIES.

Please note the following assumptions used in all the illustrations:

1. Account balances and margin requirements are as of the close of trading day.
2. The account was properly margined on the previous trading day (Friday)
3. All margin calls are promptly issued and aged.

[Name and registered address of Clearing Participant]

Dear Sirs,

MEMORANDUM OF DEPOSIT

FINANCIAL REPORTING GUIDE

Preface

Bursa Malaysia Derivatives Clearing Berhad (“BMDC”) is a company that has been approved by the Minister of Finance under the Capital Markets and Services Act 2007 to act as a clearing house for derivatives market in Malaysia. In seeking and obtaining that approval, BMDC undertook the responsibility to gain the confidence of investors in the financial integrity of the Malaysian derivatives market, ensure that clearing participant do not become a source of systemic risk or pose a threat to the settlement system, and to act in the public interest generally.

The imposition of a minimum capital standard on clearing members is a key element of BMDC’s overall risk management system, designed to assist BMDC in the discharge of its statutory responsibility. In addition to setting a capital standard, emphasis is also given through our financial audit programme on board and senior management oversight, internal controls as well as the benefit of having in place a system for the proper identification and management of risk. This is because not only do inadequate controls and supervision expose a clearing member to significant risk, they can also adversely affect the integrity of financial statements the purported objective of which is to serve as evidence of compliance with minimum capital requirements.

We believe that the financial statements of the clearing participant should reflect in a meaningful way underlying trends in the financial performance and condition of the firm, the proper values of its assets and liabilities as well as the susceptibility or sensitivity to changes in value. Recognizing that adopting broadbased accounting and disclosure standards does not adequately explain the economic substance of the activities of a clearing member, schedule 2 to the Rules of BMDC therefore provides for the computation, in a particular way, of the minimum assets which a member must hold.

BMDC has prepared the accompanying reporting guide which prescribes the financial reports and information that clearing members are required to submit to BMDC on a monthly basis as well as the forms in which those reports and information are to be presented. As a further guide to the preparation of these financial reports, some terms used in schedule 2 and the reporting guide have been defined for the benefit of clearing participant and detailed instructions have been provided with respect to the completion of the forms.

The allowable long term liability should be the lower of:

- (i) long term liabilities,

- (ii) 80% of the real property's market value; or
  - (iii) net book value of the real property.
- (1) If the current market value of the real property is RM5.0 million, 80% of the market value will be RM4.0 million. Therefore, the allowable long term liability will be RM2.5 million.
  - (2) If the current market value of the real property is RM3.0 million, 80% of the market value will be RM2.4 million. Therefore, the allowable long term liability will be RM2.4 million.

LINE 4 – Adjusted liabilities

This amount should show the difference between LINE 3 and LINE 2.

LINE 5 – Net Capital

This amount should show the difference between LINE 4 and LINE 1.

LINE 6 – Additional deductions

The Clearing Participant must provide the following charges to its Net Capital to compute its Adjusted Net Capital.

LINE 6 a – For securities held by the Clearing Participant for its proprietary account

Line 6.a.i Malaysian government securities

LINE 6.a.ii Readily marketable Malaysian securities listed on Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad

LINE 6.a.iii. All other securities listed on Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad

the percentage of charges are as follows:

1. For securities held by the Clearing Participant for its proprietary account

	% of market value to be deducted
• Malaysian government securities
- Up to one year of maturity period	2.5%
-More than one year of maturity period	5%
• Shares listed on the Main Market of Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad up to a total value of 5% of initial margin or RM250,000, whichever is greater	40%
• The balance of the aggregate value of shares listed on the Main Market of Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad	100%
• All other securities listed on Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad	100%

2. Contracts for difference (CFDs) which do not include positions held for hedging its exposures on issuance of CFDs

	% of market value to be deducted
• Single share CFDs
Index shares	15%
Non-index shares	21%
• Index CFDs	5%

For the purposes of LINES 6.d and 6.e of this statement:

Net equity refers to the combination of an account's cash ledger balance (debit or credit), profit or loss on exchange traded open derivatives contracts (except for exchange traded options), non-exchange traded open derivatives contracts (including CFDs) and the net current market value of open options contract.

Securities or collateral used to margin the account are to be used to reduce the Net Debit balance in the account before such securities are used to reduce the initial margin.

Net current market value of open option contracts refers to current market value of open long option contracts less the current market value of open short option contracts.

LINE 6.b – Amounts due from clients in respect of margin where such amounts are outstanding not less than 3 business days as at the computation date.

An under margined situation arises if the net equity and secured collateral are not sufficient to cover the margin requirement for that particular client account. The margin requirement should refer to the BMDC's margin requirement. The foreign brokers' margin requirements to the Clearing Participant would be applicable to clients trading in foreign exchanges.

The under margin amount will be determined as follows:

(a) If the net equity is in a net credit position, then the under margin amount will be:

The margin requirement less net equity less secured collateral add/less net current market value of open options contract.

(b) If the net equity is in a net debit position, then the under margin amount will be:

The margin requirement less balance of secured collateral (secured collateral less amount used to secured net debit balance) add/less net current market value of open options contract.

An under margin charge will be imposed if the Clearing Participant has an under margin amount outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date.

The charge will be imposed on the amount under margined on T day itself unless the under margin amount is fully eliminated. T day is the day when the futures and options contracts are executed by the Clearing Participant.

The under margin amount will only be fully eliminated if;

- (a) The total of net equity and any secured collateral become greater than the margin requirement either on T+1 or T+2 or T+3; or
- (b) There is no longer any margin requirement for the account either on T+1 or T+2 or T+3; or
- (c) Total cash received either on T+1 and/or T+2 and/or T+3 is greater than the under margin amount on T day.

However, if the account is also in a Net Debit Balance position on T day, any cash received will first be used to set off against the Net Debit Balance amount. The balance of the cash received can then be used to either fully or partially set off against the under margin amount on T day.

- (i) If the balance of the cash received (i.e. total cash received less Net Debit Balance amount on T day) can fully eliminate the under margin amount on T day, then an under margin charge shall not be imposed:
- (ii) If the balance of the cash received (i.e. total cash received less net Debit Balance amount on T day) can only partially eliminate the under margin amount on T day, then an under margin charge shall be imposed on the difference in the balance of the cash received and the under margin amount.

Example 1

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	21,397	21,397	21,277	21,277
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	10,000	9,900	9,800	9,700
Open position profit/(loss)	720	9,320	10,330	10,000
Net equity	32,117	40,617	41,407	40,977
Margin requirement	(26,000)	(26,000)	(39,000)	(39,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	(10,000)	(9,900)	(9,800)	(9,700)
Excess/(Shortage)	(3,883)	4,717	(7,393)	(7,723)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM3,883. However, an under margin charge will not be imposed when computing the Adjusted Net Capital as the under margin amount on T day has been completely eliminated on T+1 since the net equity is greater than the margin requirement. The under margin amount of RM7,393 on T+2 is not subjected to a charge as it is outstanding for less than 3 business days as at the computation date.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 4
Financial Reporting Guide

The same principle will apply if the net equity becomes greater than the margin requirement on either T+2 or T+3.

Example 2

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	36,494	(16,947)	(15,606)	(25,505)
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	(5,000)	-	(4,000)	(4,500)
Open position profit/(loss)	(30,010)	-	(9,960)	(700)
Net equity	1,484	(16,947)	(29,566)	(30,705)
Margin requirement	(175,500)	-	(26,000)	(6,500)
Net current market value of open Options contract	5,000	-	4,000	4,500
Excess/(Shortage)	(169,016)	(16,947)	(51,566)	(32,705)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM169,016. However, an under margin charge will not be imposed when computing the Adjusted Net Capital as the under margin amount on T day has been completely eliminated since there is no longer a margin requirement on T+1.

No charge will be imposed for the under margin amount of RM26,000 on T+2 because this under margin amount has not been outstanding for more than 3 business days.

The same principle will apply if there is no longer any margin requirement on either T+2 or T+3.

Example 3

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	620,375	728,725	728,735	780,565

Open position profit/(loss)	(208,650)	(374,380)	(239,910)	(365,576)
Net equity	422,725	353,945	488,415	423,989

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 4
Financial Reporting Guide

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM412,775. A charge of RM412,775 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated as at the computation date.

Example 4

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	1,725,942	1,724,742	1,723,742	1,721,342
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(451,680)	(398,740)	(86,640)	(16,390)
Net equity	1,274,262	1,326,002	1,637,102	1,704,952
Margin requirement	(1,482,000)	(1,612,000)	(2,593,500)	(3,163,500)

Excess/(Shortage)	(207,738)	(285,998)	(956,398)	(1,458,548)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM207,738. A charge of RM207,738 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated as at the computation date.

Example 5

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	(300)	(280)	(280)	(280)
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(750)	4,700	6,500	8,300
Net equity	(1,050)	4,420	6,220	8,020
Margin requirement	(32,500)	(13,000)	(13,000)	(13,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(15,652)	(8,850)	(6,780)	(4,980)

In this example the under margin amount on T day is RM32,500 (i.e. the margin requirement on T day). The under margin amount is not RM33,550 because this amount is inclusive of the Net Debit Balance of RM1,050 on T day.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 4
Financial Reporting Guide

A charge of RM 32,500 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the ANC because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the Computation Date.

Example 6

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	3,588	2,768	2,768	2,768
Cash received	-	-	-	10,000
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	260	700	8,340	(7,540)
Net equity	3,848	3,468	(5,572)	5,228
Margin requirement	(19,500)	(26,000)	(26,000)	(26,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(15,652)	(22,532)	(31,572)	(20,772)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM15,652. The under margin amount of RM15,652 has been partially eliminated by cash receipt of RM10,000 on T+3. The remaining balance of the under margin amount RM5,652 (i.e. RM15,652 – RM10,000) has not yet been eliminated and this balance has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the Computation Date.

A charge of RM5,652 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the Computation Date.

Example 7

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	4,327	4,327	11,327	11,327
Cash received	-	7,000	-	10,000
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	2,600	8,400	1,600	1,600
Net equity	6,927	19,727	12,927	22,927
Margin requirement	(24,000)	(24,000)	(24,000)	(24,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(17,073)	(4,273)	(11,073)	(1,073)

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 4
Financial Reporting Guide

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM17,073. The under margin amount of RM17,073 has been partially eliminated by the total cash receipt of RM17,000 on T+1 and T+3. The remaining balance of the under margin amount RM73 (i.e. RM17,073 – RM17,000) has not yet been eliminated and this balance has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the Computation Date.

A charge of RM73 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the Computation Date.

Example 8

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	2,768	2,768	2,398	2,398
Cash received	-	10,000	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(8,340)	(7,540)	(4,100)	(4,000)
Net equity	(5,572)	5,228	(1,702)	(1,602)
Margin requirement	(26,000)	(26,000)	(6,500)	(6,500)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(31,572)	(20,772)	(8,202)	(8,102)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM26,000 and the Net Debit Balance is RM5,572.

The RM10,000 total cash received on T+1 is required to set off the Net Debit Balance on T day. The balance of cash received after setting off the Net Debit Balance is RM4,428 (i.e. RM10,000 – RM5,572)

The under margin amount of RM26,000 shall be partially eliminated by the remaining cash balance of RM4,428. The balance of the under margin amount of RM21,572 (i.e. RM26,000 – RM4,428) has not yet been eliminated and has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the Computation Date.

A charge of RM21,572 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the Computation Date.

Example 9

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	2,768	2,768	2,398	2,398
Cash received	-	3,000	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(8,340)	(7,540)	(4,100)	(4,000)
Net equity	(5,572)	(1,7720)	(1,702)	(1,602)
Margin requirement	(26,000)	(26,000)	(6,500)	(6,500)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(31,572)	(27,772)	(8,202)	(8,102)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM26,000 AND THE Net Debit balance is RM5,572.

The RM3,000 total cash received on T+1 is required to set off the Net Debit Balance on t day. However, the cash received is insufficient to fully eliminate the Net Debit Balance.

Therefore the under margin amount of RM26,000 has not been eliminated and this balance has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date. An under margin charge of RM26,000 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital at the Computation Date.

Example 10

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	7,440	7,440	7,440	7,440
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(58,580)	(81,080)	(51,380)	(40,580)
Net equity	(51,140)	(73,640)	(43,940)	(33,140)
Margin requirement	(180,000)	(180,000)	(180,000)	(180,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Secured Collateral	200,000	200,000	200,000	200,000
Excess/(Shortage)	(31,140)	(53,640)	(23,9400)	(13,140)

In this example, the under margin on T day is RM31,140. Amount of collateral available to offset margin requirement is RM148,860 (RM200,000 less Net Debit Balance of RM51,140).

Example 11

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	7,440	7,440	7,440	7,440
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(58,580)	(81,080)	(51,380)	(40,580)
Net equity	(51,140)	(73,640)	(43,940)	(33,140)
Margin requirement	(180,000)	(180,000)	(180,000)	(180,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Secured Collateral	100,000	100,000	100,000	100,000
Excess/(Shortage)	(131,140)	(153,640)	(123,940)	(113,140)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM131,140 (i.e. RM100,000 – (RM51,140 + RM180,000)). A charge of RM131,140 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the Computation Date.

Example 12

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	67,440	67,440	67,440	67,440
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(58,580)	(81,080)	(51,380)	(40,580)
Net equity	8,860	(13,640)	16,060	26,860
Margin requirement	(180,000)	(180,000)	(180,000)	(180,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Secured Collateral	100,000	100,000	100,000	100,000
Excess/(Shortage)	(71,140)	(93,640)	(63,940)	(53,140)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM71,140 (i.e. RM180,000 – RM8,860 – RM100,000). A charge of RM71,140 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the Computation Date.

LINE 6.c – The net debit balance arising from marking-to-market or interim settlement of outstanding derivatives contracts held by clients as at the close of business on the computation date.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 4
Financial Reporting Guide

A charge on the client's account with a Net Debit balance refers to a charge that may be imposed if the net equity has a debit balance on the computation date and, if imposed, this charge must be deducted from the Member's Net Capital in order to arrive at the Adjusted Net Capital.

This charge is computed as a percentage of the client's account with a Net Debit Balance if the client's account has a Net Debit Balance at the net equity level on computation date.

LINE 6.d – The margin requirement on open contracts in the proprietary account of a Clearing Participant which are not bona fide hedged contracts.

The reporting Clearing Participant must take a charge on the margin requirement for all uncovered derivatives granted (sold) positions in its proprietary account.

LINES 6.e and 6.f will be defined as and when the haircuts are imposed by BMDC

LINE 7 – Total deductions

This amount should show the total of LINES 6.a to 6.h

LINE 8 – Adjusted Net Capital

This amount should show the difference between LINE 7 and LINE 5.

LINE 9 – Amount of margin required

This amount should show the margin required to be paid to BMDC or to any party or clearing house organisation, for client and proprietary accounts (including CFDs). This amount should agree with the total margin for both the segregated and unsegregated accounts in the clearing house's statement or Clearing Participant's statement (in the case of non-clearing participants) and positions in CFDs.

LINE 10 – 10% of the amount of margin required

This amount should be 10% of LINE 9.

LINE 11 – Adjusted Net Capital required

This amount should be the greater of LINE 10 or RM500,000. This is the minimum Adjusted Net Capital requirement required by BMDC

LINE 12 – Excess Adjusted Net Capital

This amount should be the difference between LINE 8 and LINE 11. If a deficit is recorded, the Clearing Participant must take immediate corrective action and file the appropriate notices to BMDC.

Schedule 2(b) – EXPLANATORY NOTES TO FORM B

For the purposes of calculating Adjusted Net Capital:

- (a) all derivatives contracts must be marked to their current market value;
- (b) all unrealised profits and losses on all derivatives contracts must be treated as realised profits and losses; and
- (c) unless otherwise specifically stated, the value ascribed to all other assets and liabilities must be at their current market value.

I. NET CAPITAL (Line 1 to Line 5)

LINE 1 – Permitted assets

This amount should agree with the “Permitted assets” column on LINE 16 of Schedule 3(a) (FORM C). Refer to Schedule 2 of the Rules of BMDC for the definition of “Permitted Assets”. Note that “Permitted Assets” include securities listed on a stock exchange approved by the Clearing House under paragraph 1(b)(i)(iv) of Schedule 2.

LINE 2 – Total Liabilities

LINE 3 – Deduction from total liabilities.

LINE 3.a – Liabilities subject to satisfactory subordinated loan agreements

This amount should show the liabilities under a subordinated loan agreement:

- i. which has a remaining term to maturity of not less than one year; and
- ii. up to a maximum amount of four times the shareholders’ funds of the Clearing Participant.

LINE 3.b - Allowable long term liabilities

This amount should show long term liabilities owed to a financial institution under a commercial loan secured by a fixed charge over real property or motor vehicles owned by the Clearing Participant and applied for use in the normal course of the business of the Clearing Participant, up to an amount equal to the lower of net book value of 80% of the market value of the real property or motor vehicles. The market value of the assets should be valued by an appointed valuer on an ‘as is’ basis and should be revalued annually.

Example:

A Clearing Participant obtains a long term loan of RM4.0 million from a financial institution. The loan is secured by a fixed charge over real property owned by the Clearing Participant. The amount payable within the next 12 months is RM0.5 million and RM 2.5 million is the long term liability. The net book value of the real property is RM3.0 million. The allowable long term liability should be the lower of:

- (i) long term liabilities,
- (ii) 80% of the real property’s market value; or
- (iii) net book value of the real property.

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 5
Periodic Reports

- (1) If the current market value of the real property is RM5.0 million, 80% of the market value will be RM4.0 million. Therefore, the allowable long term liability will be RM2.5 million.
- (2) If the current market value of the real property is RM3.0 million, 80% of the market value will be RM2.4 million. Therefore, the allowable long term liability will be RM2.4 million.

LINE 4 – Adjusted liabilities

This amount should show the difference between LINE 3 and LINE 2.

LINE 5 – Net Capital

This amount should show the difference between LINE 4 and LINE 1.

LINE 6 – Additional deductions

The Clearing Participant must provide the following charges to its Net Capital to compute its Adjusted Net Capital.

LINE 6.a – For securities held by the Clearing Participant for its proprietary account

LINE 6.a i – Malaysian government securities

LINE 6.a ii – Readily marketable Malaysian securities listed on the Main Market of Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad

LINE 6.a iii – All other securities listed on Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad

The percentage of charges are as follows:

1. For securities held by the Clearing Participant for its proprietary account

	% of market value to be deducted
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Malaysian government securities               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Up to one year of maturity period 2.5%</li> <li>- More than one year of maturity period 5%</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Shares listed on the Main Market of Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad up to a total value of 5% of initial margin or RM250,000, whichever is greater 40%</li> <li>• The balance of the aggregate value of shares listed on the Main Market of Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad 100%</li> <li>• All other securities listed on Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad 100%</li> </ul>

3. Contracts for difference (CFDs) which do not include positions held for hedging its exposures on issuance of CFDs

% of market value to be deducted

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 5
Periodic Reports

- Single share CFDs
  - Index shares 15%
  - Non-index shares 21%
- Index CFDs 5%

For the purposes of LINE 6.b and 6.c of this statement:

Net equity refers to the combination of an account's cash ledger balance (debit or credit), profit or loss on exchange traded open derivatives contracts (except for exchange traded options), non-exchange traded open derivatives contracts (including CFDs) and the net current market value of open options contract.

Securities or collateral used to margin the account are to be used to reduce the Net Debit Balance in the account before such securities are used to reduce the initial margin.

Net current market value of open option contracts refers to current market value of open long option contracts less the current market value of open short option contracts.

LINE 6.b – Amounts due from clients in respect of margin where such amounts are outstanding not less than 3 business days as at the computation date.

An under margined situation arises if the net equity and secured collateral are not sufficient to cover the margin requirement for that particular client account. The margin requirement should refer to the Clearing House's margin requirement. The foreign brokers' margin requirements to the Clearing Participant would be applicable to clients trading in foreign exchanges.

The under margin amount will be determined as follows:

- (a) If the net equity is in a net credit position, then the under margin amount will be:

The margin requirement less net equity less secured collateral add/less net current market value of open options contract.

- (b) If the net equity is in a net debit position, then the under margin amount will be:

The margin requirement less balance of secured collateral (secured collateral less amount used to secured net debit balance) add/less net current market value of open options contract.

An under margin charge will be imposed if the Clearing Participant has an under margin amount outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date.

The charge will be imposed on the amount under margined on T day itself unless the under margin amount is fully eliminated. T day is the day when the derivatives contracts are executed by the Clearing Participant.

The under margin amount will only be fully eliminated if:

- (a) The total of net equity and any secured collateral become greater than the margin requirement either on T+1 or T+2 or T+3; or

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 5
Periodic Reports

- (b) There is no longer any margin requirement for the account either on T+1 or T+2 or T+3; or
- (c) Total cash received either on T+1 and/or T+2 and/or T+3 is greater than the under margin amount on T day.

However, if the account is also in a Net Debit Balance position on T day, any cash received will first be used to set off against the Net Debit Balance amount. The balance of the cash received can then be used to either fully or partially set off against the under margin amount on T day.

- (i) If the balance of the cash received (i.e. total cash received less Net Debit Balance amount on T day) can fully eliminate the under margin amount on T day, then an under margin charge shall not be imposed.
- (ii) If the balance of the cash received (i.e. total cash received less net Debit Balance amount on T day) can only partially eliminate the under margin amount on T day, then an under margin charge shall be imposed on the difference in the balance of the cash received and the under margin amount.

Example 1

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	21,397	21,397	21,277	21,277
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	10,000	9,900	9,800	9,700
Open position profit/(loss)	720	9,320	10,330	10,000
Net equity	32,117	40,617	41,407	40,977
Margin requirement	(26,000)	(26,000)	(39,000)	(39,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	(10,000)	(9,900)	(9,800)	(9,700)
Excess/(Shortage)	(3,883)	4,717	(7,393)	(7,723)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM3,883. However, an under margin charge will not be imposed when computing the Adjusted Net Capital as the under margin amount on T day has been completely eliminated on T+1 since the net equity is greater than the margin requirement. The under margin amount of RM7,393 on T+2 is not subjected to a charge as it is outstanding for less than 3 business days as at the computation date.

The same principle will apply if the net equity becomes greater than the margin requirement on either T+2 or T+3.

Example 2

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	36,494	(16,947)	(15,606)	(25,505)

Net current market value of open Options contract	(5,000)	-	(4,000)	(4,500)
Open position profit/(loss)	(30,010)	-	(9,960)	(700)
Net equity	1,484	(16,947)	(29,566)	(30,705)
Margin requirement	(175,500)	-	(26,000)	(6,500)
Net current market value of open Options contract	5,000	-	4,000	4,500

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 5
Periodic Reports

Excess/(Shortage)	(169,016)	(16,947)	(51,566)	(32,705)
-------------------	------------------	----------	----------	----------

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM169,016. However, an under margin charge will not be imposed when computing the Adjusted Net Capital as the under margin amount on T day has been completely eliminated since there is no longer a margin requirement on T+1.

No charge will be imposed for the under margin amount of RM26,000 on T+2 because this under margin amount has not been outstanding for more than 3 business days.

The same principle will apply if there is no longer any margin requirement on either T+2 or T+3.

Example 3

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	620,375	728,725	728,325	780,565
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(208,650)	(374,380)	(239,910)	(365,576)
Net equity	422,725	353,945	488,415	423,989
Margin requirement	(824,500)	(659,500)	(659,500)	(457,500)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(412,775)	(305,555)	(171,085)	(33,511)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM412,775. A charge of RM412,775 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated as at the computation date.

Example 4

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	1,725,942	1,724,742	1,723,742	1,721,342
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(451,680)	(398,740)	(86,640)	(16,390)
Net equity	1,274,262	1,326,002	1,637,102	1,704,952
Margin requirement	(1,482,000)	(1,612,000)	(2,593,500)	(3,163,500)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(207,738)	(285,998)	(956,398)	(1,458,548)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM207,738. A charge of RM207,738 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated as at the computation date.

Example 5

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 5
Periodic Reports

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	(300)	(280)	(280)	(280)
Cash received	-	-	-	-
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	(750)	4,700	6,500	8,300
Net equity	(1,050)	4,420	6,220	8,020
Margin requirement	(32,500)	(13,000)	(13,000)	(13,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract
Excess/(Shortage)	(33,550)	(8,580)	(6,780)	(4,980)

In this example the under margin amount on T day is RM32,500 (i.e. the margin requirement on T day). The under margin amount is not RM33,550 because this amount is inclusive of the Net Debit Balance of RM1,050 on T day.

A charge of RM 32,500 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the computation date.

Example 6

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	3,588	2,768	2,768	2,768
Cash received	-	-	-	10,000
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	260	700	(8,340)	(7,540)
Net equity	3,848	3,468	(5,572)	5,228
Margin requirement	(19,500)	(26,000)	(26,000)	(26,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(15,652)	(22,532)	(31,572)	(20,772)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM15,652. The under margin amount of RM15,652 has been partially eliminated by cash receipt of RM10,000 on T+3. The remaining balance of the under margin amount RM5,652 (i.e. RM15,652 – RM10,000) has not yet been eliminated and this balance has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date.

A charge of RM5,652 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the computation date.

Example 7

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	4,327	4,327	11,327	11,327
Cash received	-	7,000	-	10,000
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Open position profit/(loss)	2,600	8,400	1,600	1,600
Net equity	6,927	19,727	12,927	22,927

Directive No. 5-001: Appendix 5
Periodic Reports

Margin requirement	(24,000)	(24,000)	(24,000)	(24,000)
Net current market value of open Options contract	-	-	-	-
Excess/(Shortage)	(17,073)	(4,273)	(11,073)	(1,073)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM17,073. The under margin amount of RM17,073 has been partially eliminated by the total cash receipt of RM17,000 on T+1 and T+3. The remaining balance of the under margin amount RM73 (i.e. RM17,073 – RM17,000) has not yet been eliminated and this balance has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date.

A charge of RM73 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the computation date.

Example 8

	T	T+1	T+2	T+3 Computation Date
Cash ledger balance	2,768	2,768	2,398	2,398

Excess/(Shortage)	(31,572)	(20,772)	(8,202)	(8,102)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM26,000 and the Net Debit Balance is RM5,572.

The RM10,000 total cash received on T+1 is required to set off the Net Debit Balance on T day. The balance of cash received after setting off the Net Debit Balance is RM4,428 (i.e. RM10,000 – RM5,572)

The under margin amount of RM26,000 shall be partially eliminated by the remaining cash balance of RM4,428. The balance of the under margin amount of RM21,572 (i.e. RM26,000 – RM4,428) has not yet been eliminated and has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date.

A charge of RM21,572 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the computation date.

open Options contract
Excess/(Shortage)	(31,572)	(27,772)	(8,202)	(8,102)

In this example, the under margin amount on T day is RM26,000 and the Net Debit balance is RM5,572.

The RM3,000 total cash received on T+1 is required to set off the Net Debit Balance on T day. However, the cash received is insufficient to fully eliminate the Net Debit Balance.

Therefore the under margin amount of RM26,000 has not been eliminated and this balance has been outstanding for more than 3 business days as at the computation date. An under margin charge of RM26,000 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital at the computation date.

A charge of RM71,140 shall be imposed as a deduction against Net Capital when computing the Adjusted Net Capital because the under margin amount on T day has not been completely eliminated by the computation date.

LINE 6.c – The net debit balance arising from marking-to-market or interim settlement of outstanding derivatives contracts held by clients as at the close of business on the computation date.

A charge on the client's account with a Net Debit balance refers to a charge that may be imposed if the net equity has a debit balance on the computation date and, if imposed, this charge must be deducted from the Clearing Participant's Net Capital in order to arrive at the Adjusted Net Capital.

This charge is computed as a percentage of the client's account with a Net Debit Balance if the client's account has a Net Debit Balance at the net equity level on computation date.

LINE 6.d – The margin requirement on open contracts in the proprietary account of a Participant which are not bona fide hedged contracts.

The reporting Clearing Participant must take a charge on the margin requirement for all uncovered derivatives granted (sold) positions in its proprietary account.
