- A: No, the restrictions imposed are only in respect of proprietary trading by POs and in respect of Day Trading. POs are free to deal in LEAP Market securities in other ways such as trading on behalf of their clients or acting as an underwriter for the LEAP Market listed corporation.

Account Tagging

- 1.4 Q: How do POs exercise control in restricting non-Sophisticated Investors from trading in the LEAP Market?

A: To avoid other clients from trading on the LEAP Market, POs are required to make the necessary arrangements with their respective IT vendors to differentiate Sophisticated Investors against non-Sophisticated Investors e.g. through account tagging and have the front/ back-office system restrict non-Sophisticated Investors from buying/selling in the LEAP Market.

Know Your Client (“KYC”)

- 1.5 Q: How should POs conduct the Know Your Client assessments on the Sophisticated Investors?

A: Pursuant to Rule 16.02(2), before a PO opens a trading account for the Sophisticated Investor, it must obtain all relevant essential information about the Sophisticated Investor in relation to his intention to trade in the LEAP Market. It must verify the Sophisticated Investor’s identity and the authenticity of his application.

Rule 16.02(2) also requires POs to take reasonable steps and exercise due diligence in learning the essential facts as to the Sophisticated Investor’s investment objective and financial position prior to opening of the trading account to trade in the LEAP Market.

After an account is opened, POs should review the Sophisticated Investor’s KYC if there are clear circumstances which warrant a review of their clients’ financial status by conducting the following:

- (a) Where the existing Sophisticated Investors’ trading accounts have been suspended by the POs e.g. due to a default in payment, POs should reassess the financial standing of their clients, to ensure that they continue to qualify as Sophisticated Investors, before allowing them to reactivate their trading accounts and trade on the LEAP Market.
- (b) Where the POs become aware that their clients no longer qualify as Sophisticated Investors e.g. through news, bankruptcy notice, notification from the relevant parties etc., POs should reassess the financial standing of such investors, before allowing them to resume trading on the LEAP Market.

In addition, POs should also require the Sophisticated Investors to immediately inform them if the Sophisticated Investors no longer qualify to trade on the LEAP Market.

2.0 Risk Disclosure Statement (Refer to Rule 16.03 of the BMS Rules)

2.1 Q: Rule 16.03 provides that a PO may only execute a client’s first instruction to trade on the LEAP Market after receipt of a duly executed risk disclosure statement in the form provided by the PO. What is the purpose of the risk disclosure statement?

A: The purpose of the risk disclosure statement is to inform LEAP Market investors about the additional risks of trading in securities on the LEAP Market apart from the normal risks involved in trading in securities. Since the LEAP Market is a market designed to accommodate small or medium sized enterprises (“SME”) to which a higher investment risk may be attached, the risk of loss may be higher.

2.2 Q: Who will be responsible to provide a copy of the risk disclosure statement to the investors?

A: The risk disclosure statement will be provided by the Participating Organisations (“POs”) to their clients for signing.

2.3 Q: Is there a prescribed risk disclosure statement provided by the Exchange that POs are required to give to the clients?

A: The Exchange does not require POs to use a prescribed template. POs are free to provide their clients with a risk disclosure statement that suits their needs. However, for reference purposes, POs may refer to the sample risk disclosure statement provided in Appendix A of these FAQs.
